

Extraordinary People

... personalized care

When our tiniest and most vulnerable newcomers arrive, Tracy, Mary and Tracie are there to greet and care for them.

These smiling, skilled and confident neonatal nurse practitioners are a key reason our community hospital delivers babies who are born prematurely or at risk of developing health issues. They are a mainstay in YVMC's Special Care Nursery, a neonatal intensive care unit that is a rarity in a small town.

Our NNPs say, "We help families stay in the community and avoid the trauma of transfer to a big-city hospital. It's an honor to share in the miracle of birth, and we treasure the close bonds we form with our families."

Mary Gills,
MS, NNP-BC

Tracie Line,
MSN, NNP-BC

Tracy Heaberlin,
MSN, NNP-BC, MBA