... personalized care

"Kristin: The nursing profession is lucky to have you. You were wonderful during my stay – thanks for your support, your very attentive care and encouragement."

– A grateful patient

When caring for a mother and newborn baby, Kristin is there for the start of a happy and life-changing event. She also celebrates with patients whose joint replacement surgery results in a new and welcome pain-free status.

Kristin says, "I love the variety and personalities of the people I take care of. When people have medical challenges, I do my best to make their experience the best it can be. Nursing and other departments form a great team – helpful and responsible to each other and to our patients."
