

Extraordinary People

... personalized care

Workplace safety is much more than a slogan to Ted. It's a passion and the reason he created the region's only occupational health clinic dedicated solely to employers and employees.

Listening to employers helps Ted design programs that fit the specific needs of their companies. He and his team do pre-employment testing, hold onsite health fairs and safety education, and coordinate care for workers compensation injuries.

Ted says, "I love communicating with employers and meeting their needs. It's very satisfying to help injured workers. When we expedite treatment, reduce stress, help them navigate through recovery and get them safely back to work, everyone's happy."
