

Extraordinary People

... personalized care

Hayley and Julie represent a team of “specialists” who put patients’ needs first. They are expert at finding difficult veins to draw blood, and they aim to make every visit a calming and successful one for the patient, regardless of age.

When our phlebotomists apply their gentle touch and skills, the process is as painless as possible. And sometimes it’s even fun for a child who gets treated to a stuffed animal or a cheery sing-along.

Julie and Hayley say, “People who are terrified end up saying, ‘You’re done? You did a great job!’ Most blood samples that we draw are for genetic screenings or disease diagnosis. We love to help our cancer patients as they go through chemotherapy, and it is very rewarding to see them get better.”
